

LOUISIANA ARCHAEOLOGY MONTH

OCTOBER 2024

The Louisiana Archaeological Society celebrates more than 50 years of bringing together individuals interested in investigating and preserving the cultural heritage and history of our state. Volunteers work side-by-side with archaeologists in research and excavations. Have you ever wanted to participate in archaeological research? Discover what archaeology can reveal about the history of your community during one of the many events offered during Louisiana Archaeology Month.

Volunteers look for artifacts by sifting through excavated soil at the Lac St Agnes mound site in Avoyelles Parish.

Volunteers sort and catalog artifacts from the Lac St. Agnes Mound site.

Local enthusiasts conduct field investigations with archaeologists at the Tom Field's site in Union parish.

Students work alongside archaeologists to learn field techniques.

Volunteers attend workshops to learn how to interpret artifacts.

School children discover how archaeologists learn about the past.

Louisiana School for the Visually Impaired students explore archaeology during summer camp.

Decorated pottery sherds

Stone tools

Mid-19th century French ointment jar

German stoneware mineral water bottle

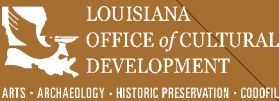

Champagne bottles

Artifacts from the Lac St. Agnes Mound site in Avoyelles, Parish

Artifacts from the 19th century Royal Hotel site in St. Francisville Historic District

PUBLIC ARCHAEOLOGY

YOUR COMMUNITY, YOUR HERITAGE!

ARTS • ARCHAEOLOGY • HISTORIC PRESERVATION • CODOFIL

LEUTENANT GOVERNOR
BILLY NUNGESSER

Scan here to visit <https://www.crt.state.la.us/discoverarchaeology/> for more information